

TELLS ROTARIANS OF KAISER'S BIG ALUMINUM SALES

Speaker Here Says They Captured 20% of Business

AN INTERESTING TALK

Aluminum is Very Much in Demand, Says Speaker

Henry J. Kaiser's Permanente Products Co., makers of primary aluminum and aluminum products, captured 20% of the entire U. S. aluminum market in its first 18 months of operation, according to D. L. Nivling, Philadelphia Sales Representative of Permanente Products Co., addressing Rotarians here yesterday.

"Permanente produced more aluminum sheet in 1946, its first year of operation, than the entire industry produced in 1939, and plans are now underway to add aluminum foil, rod and bar, wire and cable to our product list," Mr. Nivling stated.

"The aluminum industry increased its production six-fold during war years and many skeptics expected the tower to topple once military demands ended. But Henry Kaiser was not one of the skeptics. In 1946 he leased three plants worth $90,000,000 from the Government; a plant in Baton Rouge, La., for the conversion of bauxite to alumina, one in Spokane, Wash., for the reduction of alumina to aluminum and the Trentwood rolling mill near Spokane, which has the capacity to produce 288,000,000 pounds of aluminum in forms ready for fabricators. A few months later, a second reduction mill in Tacoma was purchased and a soda ash plant built at Owens Lake, California."

Mr. Kaiser's optimism about the future of the aluminum industry was apparently well-founded for the industry is now producing four times the amount of aluminum annually that was produced in any pre-war year, and that amount is still 46% behind demand.

Mr. Nivling concentrated his remarks on the answering of common questions that represent the most prevalent misconceptions about aluminum. "Many people still regard aluminum as a luxury metal," he said, "but the fact is that the price of aluminum sheet has dropped 50% since 1939, while all other metals have increased in price. Today, copper, lead and brass cost four times as much as aluminum; stainless steel costs five times as much and zinc twice as much on the basis of volume obtained from pound weight. Hot rolled steel sheets now cost about 46% as much as aluminum and this percentage increases with different types of steel. Galvanized steel sheet for example, costs 65% as much as aluminum."

"Thousands of manufacturers who, because of the scarcity of steel, tried aluminum for the first time found that certain properties of aluminum offer advantages that greatly outweigh the initial cost advantage of steel. We believe that only a small percentage of present aluminum users will switch back to metals formerly used should these metals again become plentiful, and this percentage will not be missed because manufacturers are daily finding new ways in which aluminum can serve them to advantage."

To illustrate the reasons why the industry feels confident of keeping present customers, Mr. Nivling described the various properties of aluminum in relation to popular applications. For example, the light weight of aluminum (not more than one-third the weight of any metal

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

When the construction of the new traffic signals at the intersection of South Main, Ashland and Green streets, Doylestown, gets under way shortly, the old water trough landmark erected there some years ago for horses and dogs as a drinking place, may be removed.

Borough council this week suggested that the unsightly island at the intersection be "cleaned up" and the trough removed because it is no longer needed.

A tree located at the same intersection will not be removed if the new signal lights operate satisfactorily.

Horace M. Mann, curator of the Bucks County Historical Society, said that the water trough was erected some years ago by the Village Improvement Association.

Earlier, a temperance organization built one for "man and beast" beside Monument Square, which was also removed.

Trooper Leland Emery, Pennsylvania State Police Safety Education officer, who pioneered in safety education with reference to traffic squads and driver training in the Bucks county schools, has returned to the sub-station, near Danboro.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

A compromise resolution on the Berlin dispute will be introduced in the United Nations Security Council today by the six member nations not directly involved in the situation. Although the motion will level no blame against Russia for the Berlin blockade, the Western powers have approved its principle; the attitude of the Soviet Union was not made known.

Sixty-six more C-54 transport planes have been made available for the Berlin airlift by President Truman and the National Security Council, increasing the lift's capacity by more than one-third. General Clay, who flew from Germany to report to the President, and the council, said it would be possible to enforce four-power control of Berlin's currency as long as the airlift continued.

Talking of the Hse Koch case, General Clay said that although the former Nazi official of a concentration camp was "a woman of depraved character and ill repute," he had commuted her life sentence because charges against her of war crimes had been supported only by hearsay.

In Berlin the Russians released a number of the Western sector policemen and guards who were

"Take" in Doylestown Borough Is Big Help to Treasury

POLICE ARRESTED 21

The biggest month so far this year was in June when the "take" hit $27,561.9, while the poorest month was last January when $779.72 was dropped in the meters that line central streets of Doylestown.

FELL DOWN STAIRWAY; LOSES SUIT FOR $5,000

Court Holds That The Victim of The Fall Was Negligent

SIMILAR CASE TRIED

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 22—Because the plaintiff produced insufficient proof of negligence, and because she did not exercise ordinary prudence which she could and should have, a compulsory non-suit was allowed by Judge Calvin S. Boyer in civil court, Wednesday, in the case of Mrs. Mary Minareck, Arlington, N. J., versus Clarence Johnson, La-haska antique dealer, who was being sued for $5,000.

The plaintiff, a 55-year-old married woman, and party of two friends, Sarah N. Pike and Charlotte M. Heath, stopped in the defendant's antique shop October 23, 1946, when the plaintiff fell down a stairway in the corner of the building.

Mrs. Minareck testified she was interested in some antique glass and that in turning about on the brink of the stairway, stepped backwards down into the opening.

Judge Boyer, who ruled that under the law the plaintiff did not have a case which was strong enough to submit to the jury, allowed the compulsory non-suit. "There is no evidence of any contributory negligence on the part of the defendant. The plaintiff should have used ordinary prudence and could have and would have seen the stairway had she looked."

Members of the jury were Elwood E. Stapler, Yardley; Margaret W. Tucker, Quakertown; Lillian Tucker, Churchville; Ernest G. Hisey, Langhorne; Desmond R. Gatti, Morrisville; Walter E. Baum, Sellersville; Mildred B. Johnson, Quakertown; R.D. Alice W. Carter, Yardley; Viola M. Craig, Langhorne, RD; Russell E. Boorse, Quakertown; Ira T. Nice, Edgely, and Elizabeth McCartney, Andalusia.

Miss Charlotte M. Heath, who testified she did not actually see the plaintiff fall, but heard her screams as she dropped from sight, said: "The stairway is a trap."

The defendant did not take the stand since his counsel, Arthur M. Eastburn, Jr., argued to the court, after making a motion for a com-

REPUBLICAN WOMEN HEAR THOS. C. EVANS

Republican Candidates For Re-Election Introduced At Luncheon

RE-ELECT MRS. LEAR

By Staff Reporter

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 22—"The Republican party is going to be entrusted with the affairs of this nation at the beginning of the year. May there be no weakening of our purpose, and America will find its way over these troubled times and come at last to a good place."

Thus Thomas C. Evans, chief solicitor of the Pennsylvania State Department of Highways, addressed affiliates of Bucks County Council of Republican Women at Doylestown Inn yesterday afternoon at their annual luncheon session. Coming from Harrisburg, Mr. Evans had a message filled with common sense and interspersed with witticisms. His introduction to Bucks County Republican women was by Mrs. John W. Cooper, former president of the council, and chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Cooper was presented to the 115 assembled by the council president, Mrs. Norman W. Lear, of this borough.

On this auspicious occasion the several guests introduced included Republican candidates from this county.

In opening his address Mr. Evans expressed his pleasure in visiting Bucks County—"home of Mr. Grandy, one of our elder and most revered statesmen." He added that he had come "to invest an hour with you." Nowhere can an hour be so rewarding as in benefits from a Republican club. He informed the women that he "trembled to think what would happen to the Republican organization if it were not for the women's groups. We look to you to aid in victory this November. When within sight of the promised land I know there is no occasion to desert, and no inclination to do so. Republicans should always remember who they are. Our party has had a great tradition and has given to the world great leaders. If we remember who we are we'll have no trouble this November."

Reminded of a staunch old Republican gentleman who attended every Democrat club meeting in his community, much to the chagrin and annoyance of the members, Mr. Evans told how the member of the G. O. P. party was asked one day by one of the Democratic leaders why he was always present. "Do you think there is any possibility you might be converted?" was the addition to the question. "No, I just come to renew my disgust," was the Republican's reply. "And if you want to be glad you belong to this grand old party with fine traditions and much to offer just attend a Driver Tells Philadelphia Police Hold-Up Occurred On Mechanicsville Road, South of City Line, at About Seven o'Clock Last Evening; Driver's Pockets Were Rifled; Two Youths Stood Watch While Others Robbed Their Victim.

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22—Police today sought four teen-aged youths who robbed a meat truck driver of $850 cash and $250 in checks near the Bucks county line on Mechanicsville Road last night.

Detectives Hugh McGee and George Diamond, of the 27th District, described the robbery this way:

Raymond G. Huml, of 3310 Aldine street, stopped his truck, a Burk's meat vehicle, when he saw a bicycle lying in the middle of Mechanicsville Road, south of city line, at 7 p. m. last night.

Huml got out to remove the obstacle, and as he did so, two youths leaped out of the underbrush and one flourished a nickel-plated revolver. Two other youths also appeared on the scene and stood watch.

The first two robbers rifled Huml's pockets after knocking him down. They took the money and checks and then started to tie his feet. However, all four fled through the woods when cars started to pass on the highway.

Huml said one of the youths appeared to be of oriental origin, but because of the darkness he could give no better description of the men.

The robbery occurred about 400 feet south of the Bucks-Philadelphia border. Police said they believed the bicycle which trapped Huml had been stolen earlier in the evening.

Huml is an employee of Louis Burk, Inc., pork packers, of Third street and Girard avenue. His delivery route is in lower Bucks county and the northern part of Philadelphia.

After the hold-up men escaped, Huml flagged down a motorist who drove him to a farmhouse where he called the State Police at Langhorne. The Langhorne authorities notified the State road and Longshore street police station in Philadelphia.

Six red cars were sent to the scene but no trace was found of the robbers.

TWO BRIDGES ACROSS DELAWARE ARE SOLD

Mount Holly, N. J. Purchase of the Tacony-Palmira and Burlington-Bristol bridges across the Delaware River for $12,999,999, was announced today by the Burlington County Board of Freeholders.

The bridges had been privately owned. A spokesman for the Board said there will be a slash in tolls on both bridges.

Leroy Church, of Bordentown, director of the board, said a toll of 25 cents for passenger automobiles would be imposed replacing the current 30 cent fee on the Tacony-Palmira span and the 35 cent charge on the Burlington-Bristol bridge.

Church said tolls would be reduced gradually and that the bridges probably would be toll free in about 12 years.

Church said the four-lane Tacony-Palmira span was purchased for $10,100,000. An additional $1,899,999 was paid for the two-lane Burlington-Bristol bridge, he said.

Church declared the purchase of the bridges is being financed by revenue bonds for $12,999,999 which are to be handled by the Chicago investment syndicate of Ketchum and Nongard.

MORE PARTS FOR AUTOS

New automobiles may be difficult to obtain for some months. Although there are signs that buyer resistance is being felt, with products of some of the smaller manufacturers relatively easy to obtain, but parts for older cars are in more plentiful supply and it should be less difficult to obtain needed repairs from now on.

Record stocks of car parts have been accumulated by car dealers in anticipation of another severe winter, according to Verne L. Murray, president of the Automobile Merchants Association of New York City. He asserted that in the New York metropolitan area repair facilities have been expanded at least 100 per cent over those available last year.

Many local automobile owners have reported less difficulty in recent weeks in having much-needed repairs made. Parts for cars less than 10 years old can generally be obtained now. Except for tire chains, permanent type anti-freeze and perhaps batteries, there will be no widespread shortages of auto necessities this winter.

According to Murray, vast stores of parts have been pouring in from the factories since mid-summer. Virtually the only shortage is in sheet metal exterior units such as bumpers and fenders, he said.

The new car situation is confused at the moment, to borrow a term from the war communique of a few years ago. A few 1948 models of less popular makes are obtainable at the list price on used car lots. In fact, few 1948 models are priced greatly above list now.

New York City has started a radio drive to encourage the speaking of better English. An impression prevails that any change there would be for the better.

Seeking solution for the high cost of meat a Washington bureaucrat declares if no one eats meat there will be plenty.

Used car lots are cutting prices on some of their merchandise. Probably determined to move it to make room for 1949 stock.

According to Russia, America is a nation of savages. But with plenty of wampum.

It is not so difficult to understand how the other half lives as how they can afford it.

approximating it in strength) is particularly attractive to the transportation industry. As Mr. Nyling explained it: "Whether aluminum be used in plane, ship, bus, train, or truck, its light weight makes possible either an increase in payload or a decrease in fuel and other operating costs."

"Barns and buildings with aluminum roofs will be 10 to 15 degrees cooler in summer because of the high heat reflectivity of aluminum. This heat reflectivity plus the fact aluminum is rustproof, weatherproof, and termite proof is responsible for the growing demand for aluminum in the building field. In addition to the use of aluminum for farm and industrial building," Mr. Nyling added, "the new Kaiser Aluminum Clapboard Siding, which, when painted, looks exactly like wood clapboard and costs no more than the better grades of wood, promises to revolutionize the home building field."

"The high heat conductivity of aluminum, in addition to its light weight, makes it the best material for use in pots and pans to insure uniform cooking of foods," Mr. Nyling explained.

"And its high electrical conductivity makes aluminum more economical for use as an electrical conductor than the old standard, copper. The aluminum wire or cable needed to carry a current between two given points will weigh just half as much and cost half as much as copper needed for the same job."

Other properties of aluminum include immunity to rust and corrosion, resistance to chemicals, excellent workability, which reduces wear and tear on fabricating machinery, and non-toxicity.

"In short," Mr. Nyling concluded, "aluminum is finding its place in every industry from the manufacture of street car tokens to the building of skyscrapers. Our big problem at present is to obtain sufficient hydroelectric power to produce the aluminum needed to build a 70 group air force—among other defense needs—and at the same time supply the tremendous civilian demand."

Guests were present from Jenkintown, Haddonfield, Philadelphia, and Morrisville. Vice-President William J. Begley presided at the meeting, which was held in St. James' parish house. Following his address the speaker answered questions for members.

Democratic meeting once in a while," was advice of the speaker.

Recalling that Pennsylvania Week was recently observed, Mr. Evans said: "We stressed the fact, during that period, that Pennsylvania is a leader in industry, in raising of crops, etc. That's true and that's well. But Pennsylvania was built by folks like you. Your forebears helped in the building of this state. There are still loads to lift and hard work to do. Yet, lost we forget, 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things will be added unto you.' Maybe these things were added because those who built Pennsylvania sought first the kingdom of God. They first built places of worship, and then schools; and around these churches and schools a great state has been built."

"Of recent years there have come over from Europe some strange doctrines—and those doctrines have found their way into our colleges and schools, even into Washington. Do you know that's one of the big issues of this campaign. And in the fighting of these 'isms' this Republican party is destined to play its part." At this juncture he spoke of the candidates for election to the state legislature, Wilson L. Yeakey and Marvin V. Keller. "If you give to the legislature the best you have, the best will come back to you" was one of the speaker's comments. "Unless we're careful how we as Republicans deport ourselves in aiding those we love in these trying times we may find we are losing only in memory." He urged all to back the Republican candidates who will serve the populace honorably.

Warning of the threat of "man's winter and its glacial sweep," Mr. Evans admonished: "Winter can still come to Pennsylvania. After the war the lights went on in Czechoslovakia and other countries in Europe, but there they have gone out again. It is up to the Republican party to see that those lights do not grow dim, do not go down in this state. It will take faith to win. We have to have faith to win the peace, we have to have faith to win this election just as we had to have faith to win that war we just came through. This old world has been shattered to bits . . . and destiny has somehow decreed that the Republican party will have the privilege of restoring the things that count and are needed. . . . No job is too big for the Republican party. The Republican convention in Philadelphia put its best foot forward and gave us Dewey and Warren. We ought to be proud of these candidates of ours. . . . The Republican party is going to be entrusted with the affairs of this nation at the beginning of the year. . . . May there be no weakening of our purpose, and America will find its way over these troubled times and come at last to a good place."

The speaker preceding Mr. Evans was Mrs. Henry N. Woolman, Jr., a member of the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women. Mrs. Woolman touched on the prime issues of the campaign and what the Republican party has to offer. One of the youngest directors in the state's Republican group, Mrs. Woolman's subject was "The Woman's Angle in the Campaign Issues." She stressed the need of application of common sense to the campaign. "We must get out the vote," she said as she also urged purchase of campaign certificates. Purchase of such she referred to as "open profession of faith in the party." Mrs. Woolman cited Dewey's record of assistance to Republican women—according to many jobs in New York state, and aiding in establishment of a committee to secure jobs for women needing work. Tackling the question of the high cost of living she gave as one of the reasons for inflation "deficit spending." She continued by telling how the 80th Congress had reduced taxes, and eliminated one million workers in Washington. "That is one step in the right direction," was her comment. Touching on the foreign policies of the present administration and touching on some specific incidents she said: "You can see what by-passing of the United Nations by Washington has done to our foreign policy. It weakens our United Nations. I feel with the Dewey administration in charge the situation will be far different." That the Taft-Hartley bill has reduced strikes 19 percent was one bit of information given. "And President Truman has used that act eight times himself to settle questions". In conclusion, as she urged backing of the Republican ticket, Mrs. Woolman reminded "Of all the senses, common sense is the best."

During the post-luncheon meeting Mrs. Lear introduced State Senator Edward B. Watson. After briefly stating the duties of watchers at the polls, Mr. Watson said, "I hope you will all do a splendid job as you always do." Assemblyman Wilson L. Yeakey advised the gathering: "Just mark a cross at the top of the ticket in the Republican column and it will come right on down." He read to the group the editorial "Not in the Bag" which appeared in Wednesday's issue of The Bristol Courier. Marvin Keller, candidate for the state assembly, was also introduced. He admonished thus: "One big thing we must overcome is overconfidence."

Mrs. Clarence J. Buckman, Langhorne, suggested that home-makers vote during the middle of the day, so that the early morning and the evening hours might be kept free for those employed during the day-time. Honorary president of the county council, Mrs. Henry E. Ancker, Bristol, was presented to the gathering; as was also Mrs. Evans, wife of the speaker of the day, and Mr. and Mrs. Evan's daughter, Mrs. Hess. Warren Watson and Mrs. Joseph Howe, chairman and co-chairman, respectively, of the Dewey-Warren Dollar Certificate Drive, were also present.

It was during the morning meeting, opening at 11:30, that Mrs. Norman W. Lear was re-elected to the presidency of the county council. She was presented with an orchid, the gift of council members as she again accepted the gavel. Presiding during election was Mrs. John W. Cooper. Mrs. Cooper called upon Mrs. Harry Ross, member of the nominating committee, for report on candidates. Those unanimously elected for two year terms are:

Honorary president, Mrs. Henry Ancker, Bristol; honorary directors, Mrs. John W. Cooper, Doylestown, and Mrs. Howard Kooker, Jr., Quakertown; president, Mrs. Norman W. Lear; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Calvin S. Boyer, Doylestown; 2nd vice president, Mrs. Joseph Howe; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. William V. Loughery, Newtown; corresponding secretary—Mrs. George Robbins, Bristol; recording secretary—Mrs. William Beringer, Perkasie; treasurer—Mrs. Marco Bean, Sellersville; assistant treasurer—Mrs. A. Newlin Hellyer, Doylestown; Directors—Mrs. Clarence Buckman, Mrs. Joseph Conroy, Mrs. Richard Cooper, Miss Anna Darrah, Mrs. Willard B. Degener, Mrs. Edmund Dunn, Mrs. John Force, Mrs. Frank D. Good, Mrs. George S. Hobensack, Mrs. William O. Hunsicker, Mrs. W. Leslie Leutter, Mrs. Peter Leichter, Mrs. William D. Lynch, Mrs. A. Oscar Martin, Mrs. Charles M. Meredith, Mrs. Julian Perry, Mrs. Edward J. Pierson, Mrs. Laura Pfaff, Mrs. Floyd Run, Mrs. Harry Ross, Mrs. Jacob Shoemaker, Mrs. Oliver P. Thus, Mrs. Miriam Vandeventer, Mrs. Harvey Wandbold, Mrs. Edward B. Watson, Mrs. William Weaver, Miss Eleanor Worthington, Miss Mary Yardley, Mrs. Minerva Epstein, the latter being president of Lower Bucks County Council of Republican Women.

Announcement was made that Mrs. Cooper has been re-appointed state director of Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women.

and had just swung his body around the pole when the pole snapped at the base and crashed across a slope to the ground. The pole fell across Kohler. He was unconscious when the several men at the scene reached him. The pole was lifted from Kohler's inert body, and he was rushed to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, in the ambulance of Trevese Heights Rescue Squad. Kohler was pronounced dead upon arrival at the hospital.

Kohler is a former, well-known baseball pitcher. He had a narrow escape from electrocution here in Bristol about 26 years ago, when he contacted high voltage wires on Lafayette street. At that time he lost one of his fingers.

The survivors are his wife and nine children, ranging in age from 14 to 28 years; seven grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. George Shire and Miss Fannie Kohler, of Bristol; two brothers, Theodore Kohler, of Virginia; and C. H. Kohler, of New Brunswick, N. J.

BENSALEM HIGH SEEKS FIFTH WIN

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Oct. 22.—Bensalem High seeks its fifth straight win tomorrow afternoon when it stacks up against Southampton High on the Bristol Pike field. Kickoff will take place at two o'clock.

The Owls have beaten St. Francis, P. S. D., Newtown, and Morrisville, and have played a deadlock with Mt. Holly. Coach Marion VanHorn has his high-spirited team all pepped up for the "Southies" and expects to cash in with victory number five.

It will not be an easy match for the Bensalem lads, as last season Claude Lodge's team won over the Cornwells lads, 13-0, and Southampton has quite a few of last season's squad back on the club.

Although elated over the 13-12 win over Morrisville, Coach VanHorn is not permitting his proteges to let down one bit and is determined to let the other schools of this section know that the Owls are really making history on the gridiron.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

PROBABLY the first choice of most Americans for their favorite meal would be broiled steak, and the A & P Service for Home-Makers suggests this for your Sunday dinner this week.

Allow a half-pound of steak per person, and select a porterhouse or a sirloin cut that is at least an inch and a half thick. Some people argue against any seasoning other than salt and pepper, contending that a good steak needs nothing added. Others maintain that seasoning adds to the goodness of the meat.

For a seasoning—if you belong to the latter school of thought—rub the steak on both sides with a cut button of garlic, rub in a little mustard, some Worcestershire sauce and salt and pepper.

Heat the broiler for 10 minutes at 350°F., then put the steak on a rack four inches under the flame. A rare steak should cook seven to eight minutes on one side, then be turned and cooked the same length of time on the other side. Add more cooking time for medium or well done.

French fried potatoes and French fried onions, a tossed vegetable salad and your favorite pie will complete a meal that you will remember for days.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELBERSON

About ducks . . . the 1948 migratory waterfowl season is a week old today and all that can be reported is that kills have so far been few and far between. Some native ducks have been bagged, but many of the duck hunters with whom I have talked this week have come home empty handed, or with less than the daily bag of 4 ducks.

Last week this column erroneously reported the Pennsylvania season would close on November 7th. This should have been November 30th. The dove and woodcock seasons close on November 7th, while the allbird season ends on October 30th.

Colder weather will no doubt produce more flight birds and better luck hunting before the season closes.

Meeting . . . next Tuesday, October 26th, the Edgely Rod & Gun Club will hold its meeting in the Headley Manor Fire Station at 8 p. m. All members are asked to be present and all sportsmen are welcome.

New backstop . . . thanks to two very generous members of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association, Lester Kauffman, Langhorne, who supplied the bulldozer, and Ray Elbersen, who operated it all day last Sunday, the rifle range of the club is now in the safest condition it has ever experienced. Tons and tons of dirt were thrown up at the backstop, so that now a bank at least 15 feet in height extends the entire length of the range.

If members exercise the same extreme caution which everyone handling firearms should do at all times, the new backstop should prove more than satisfactory to the needs of both pistol and rifle shooters. Remember . . . keep your targets low.

Rats . . . do you know that rats do more damage each year to foods, feed, property and public health than the sportsmen spend in their pursuit of fish and game? was asked recently by the National Wildlife Federation. Rats this year will destroy the equivalent of one-third of our pledged wheat and other grains for European relief. The actual loss runs about four billion dollars a year. That's a good sized feed bill for these rats which are not known to serve any useful purpose whatsoever.

Taking cognizance of this situation a bill was introduced in the closing days of the last Congress which calls for a long range rat control program with authorized appropriations of $3,000,000 annually. Eighty per cent of the annual fund will be apportioned to the states under a formula which takes into consideration the area and the population of each state. The administration of the Act will be through the Fish and Wildlife Service.

Experiment . . . something new in trapshooting was introduced to local marksmen on Tuesday evening when a night shoot was held over the traps of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association.

The lights were supplied by portable equipment and stationary equipment of the American Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, No. 2. Four full squads of shooters blasted away at 500 targets with varied results. High gun for the evening went to J. S. Lynn, who broke 23 out of 25. In second place was Joseph King, Sr., who turned in a score of 21. J. Elbersen had a 20, while F. Everett and F. R. Davies each had scores of 17.

The committee plans to run another such shoot within the next few weeks.

High score at the Newportville Rod & Gun Club shoot, held last Sunday, was made by J. Ashton when he missed just one bird in 25. Other scores included: G. Cobligh, 23; W. K. Warner, 23; H. Ely, 23; W. W. Varner, 23; J. Lawton, 22; J. Kish, 21; G. Stewart, 21; F. Davies, 21; and B. Doran, 21. Another open shoot will be held at the club this Sunday.

Sound advice . . . don't demonstrate your shooting ability, now that the hunting season is near, by smashing insulators on telephone and telegraph lines, exhibition shooter Herb Parsons warned the nation's boys today.

"When Dad goes out hunting," Parsons said, "his boys like to take their 22's and imitate him. But if they're too young to go hunting or have to stay home to do the chores, they begin plinking at insulators . . . and that's bad business."

The Western Winchester shooter pointed out that it is the responsibility of parents to see that their children do not use firearms without receiving competent instruction.

"The big thing to remember is safety," he said. "Shoot in a safe place, preferably where a sharp slope of ground offers an almost vertical backstop for the bullets."

BRISTOL HIGH TO FACE VINELAND TEAM

Again rated as an underdog, the Bristol High team faces the strong Vineland High School eleven tonight on the Jersey school's field, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Vineland, coached by Danny Testa of Temple University fame, beat the Warriors last season by three touchdowns. The Jerseyites beat Camden High last week and have a winning record thus far this season.

Teams coached by Testa are noted for their strong aerial attacks and Coach Harry McClister strengthened his defense along these lines during the practice sessions this week.

Bristol has been making a remarkable showing this season and almost upset the apocryphal last Saturday at Abington when it lost by a one-point margin, 15-14, losing out in the last thirty seconds of play.

The Warriors did spring a surprise at Conshohocken and beat that school, and tonight's fracas will end their road stand, they coming home next Friday night to play Langhorne in the first Lower Bucks county game.

ST. ANN'S A. A. AND GOODWILL TIED FOR INDEPENDENT TITLE

St. Ann's A. A. and the Goodwill Hose team are deadlocked for season's honors according to the records of the independent grid teams of this section.

The hosemen and the Saints have both won four games and lost one and both teams have managed to score on every opponent. Goodwill was idle last week and swings into action Saturday night against Bordentown Manual Training on the high school field.

St. Ann's brought its winning streak to four straight with a triumph over Upland. It was the third consecutive game in which St. Ann's held their opponents scoreless. The Purple and Gold has scored 62 points this season while holding its foes to 13.

The Wood streeters will play the Phoenixville Moose on Monday night in the final home night classic and also play again on Thursday night, meeting the Paimyra Red Devils on the latter's field.

The Langhorne Aces are hitting the skids. The Aces haven't recovered from the blow dealt them by Goodwill and last week lost to the Edgely Angels, 12-0, making their season's mark three wins and two defeats.

Newport A. A. lost to the Jasper A. C. of Philadelphia. It was the first defeat of the season for Newport and their second loss in nine games over a two-season period. Both defeats were inflicted by Jasper.

Here it is! A long look ahead! The modern design for '49 new Hudson

Come in and see the new Hudson—the lowest-built car on the highway, with beauty, riding qualities, comfort and safety only possible because of a new "step-down" design, offered by no other automobile!

Only once in a blue moon does a car step so far ahead that it is a protected investment in motor-car value! You are invited to see just such a car—the New Hudson with "The modern design for '49"—and for years to come!

Here is truly streamlined beauty—a stunning combination of free-flowing, low-built lines that develop naturally out of a recessed floor which is the key to a basically new and exclusive design principle. The New Hudson is the only car you step down into.

The development of a "step-down" zone in an exclusive, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame permits Hudson to build the lowest car on the highway—only five feet from ground to top—while maintaining more interior head room than in any mass-produced car built today!

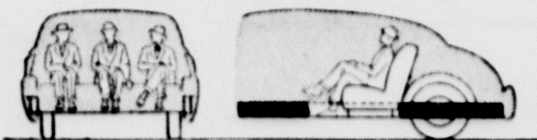

But streamlined beauty isn't the whole story of Hudson's modern design.

Hudson has a hug-the-road way of going on every conceivable kind of highway. The way in which this car takes even the sharpest curves makes it a "stand-out" for roadability in any year!

These remarkable riding qualities are largely due to the fact that the New Hudson provides the lowest center of gravity in any American stock car—yet road clearance is ample! It is a widely recognized fact that the lower to the ground a car can be built, the more stability it will have and the safer it will be.

Such a delightful conformity to the road, coupled with the protection of riding encircled by a sturdy box-section steel frame, gives to everyone who rides in a New Hudson a grand feeling of safe well-being! This feeling is further enhanced by the ease with which this car is operated, and by the restful quiet with which Hudson glides along—thanks to the superb sound control engineered into this advanced automobile.

See "The modern design for '49" today! Come in and let us show you the many advantages of Hudson's fabulous "step-down" design principle.

HUDSON FLOORS are recessed down within the frame (as shown above), full-height seats are lowered, so you get ample head room in this car with the new, lower center of gravity.

YOU RIDE down within a base frame (as shown above), and rear seats are positioned ahead of the rear wheels so that full body width becomes available for wonderfully roomy seats. Box section steel girders completely encircle and protect the passenger compartment.

TRY AUTOMATIC gear shifting in forward speeds as provided by Hudson's Drive-Master transmission—by far the easiest of all ways to drive. You can accelerate as long and as fast as you like in parking gear, then lift your foot momentarily, and you're in high. The shift into high comes only when you are ready! Button control on the instrument panel provides instant change to conventional driving if ever desired. Drive-Master transmission is optional on all New Hudsons at small extra cost.

*Trade-mark and patents pending.
